

Wendy Reilly

On the 22nd April 1982 I met a little boy, he was just a few hours old and who was to know that his being would encourage so many people to raise money to give seriously ill children a little fun for just a short time.

In 1987 I became one of the founder members of Northern Lights formerly known as The Christopher Johnson Fund; a Neston based Children Charity where I have lived most of my life. After a brief move to the Republic of Ireland, I returned to live in Neston and once again, in 2004 became a committee member and later that year the charities Treasurer.

My interests are travelling, I am a keen walker and enjoy camping, in a caravan not a tent, I prefer my home comforts, but visiting isolated areas in the UK is a passion. My only daughter Vicki is also now involved with the Charity and now she is married the next generation is hopefully being trained up to carry on the fundraising work.

I have seen the amazing results these holidays of a lifetime give to the children and I am proud to say that I have been involved for as long as I have. To see it move with the times into the age of technology that is upon us these days is fantastic, long may it continue.
